Vorwort

Die Goten, deren Name mit germ. *geutan „gießen“ verknüpft wird, werden erstmals im letzten vorchristlichen Jahrhundert erwähnt. Sie stammen vielleicht aus Südkandinavien. Bis zum dritten nachchristlichen Jahrhundert sind sie über den Oder-Weichsel-Raum an das Schwarze Meer gezogen. Von dort führte sie die Völkerwanderung ab 375 n. Chr. nach Italien, Südgallien und Spanien. Das von Theoderich dem Großen in Italien gegründete Reich der Ostgoten (Greutungi) wird 553 durch Ostrom vernichtet, das der Westgoten (Tervingi) 507 von den Franken aus Südgallien nach Spanien abgedrängt und dort 711 von den Arabern unterworfen. Literarisch treten die Goten zuerst durch die westgotische Bibelübersetzung des Missionsbischofs Ulfila (311?-382?) und einige kleinere volkssprachige Texte hervor. Für die Rechtsgeschichte sind danach ihre Rechtsaufzeichnungen besonders bedeutsam. Von diesen sind das vermutlich ostgotische Edictum Theoderici (um 500) und das westgotische Breviarium Alarici (506, lex Romana Visigothorum) so stark römisch geprägt, dass sie eher den spätantiken romanistischen Rechtsquellen zuzurechnen sind und dementsprechend auch von Levy in seinen Ergänzungsindex zu ius und leges (Wörterverzeichnis) aufgenommen wurden.

Demgegenüber fehlt noch ein Wörterverzeichnis zu den eher germanistischen gotischen Rechtsquellen. Diese lassen sich zusammenfassend als Leges Visigothorum bezeichnen. Sie setzen sich aus verschiedenen Fassungen des westgotischen Rechts zusammen.

Als älteste überlieferte Textstufe bezeichnet man den sog. Codex Euricianus. Er ist in einem Pariser Palimpsest des 6. Jahrhunderts fragmentarisch erhalten, das mit einem Kapitel 276 beginnt und mit einem Kapitel 336 endet. Die von Zeumer begründete herrschende Meinung schreibt ihn dem Westgotenkönig Eurich (466-484) zu (469-476). Eine vom Westgotenkönig Leovigild (568-586) veranlasste Rechtsaufzeichnung ist durch Isidor von Sevilla bezeugt, aber nicht als solche überliefert. Sie wird aus einer vielleicht 654 verfassten, in zwei Handschriften und zwei Fragmenten überlieferten und nach der ältesten Handschrift meist als liber iudiciorum (Buch der Urteile) bezeichneten Rechtsaufzeichnung des Westgotenkönigs Reccesvinth (653-672) dadurch erschlossen, daß die in dieser als „antiqua“ (alt) bezeichneten 319 Bestimmungen auf Leovigild zurückgeführt werden. Damit stimmt gut überein, dass neben den antiqua-Kapiteln Bestimmungen nur von solchen Westgotenkönigen im Text enthalten sind, welche nach Leovigild lebten. Ob ein Teil der antiqua-Bestimmungen älteren Ursprungs ist oder von Nachfolgern Leovigilds nachträglich verändert worden ist, lässt sich nicht sicher feststellen. Unter dem Westgotenkönig Ervig (680-687) erfolgte dann 681 eine ebenfalls in 2 (3) Handschriften überlieferte Neufassung der Aufzeichnung Reccesvinths. Eine in mehr als 20 Handschriften überlieferte Vulgatafassung fügt vor allem noch Novellen des Königs Egica (687-702) an. Im Gegensatz zum Codex Euricianus und zur Antiqua Leovigilds ist die Sprache der jüngeren Aufzeichnungen auffallend moralisierend rhetorisch geprägt. Der Codex Euricianus gilt nur für Goten, das Rechtsbuch Reccesvinths dagegen beansprucht territoriale Geltung. Der Einfluss des römischen Rechts auf diese Texte ist groß, der Einfluss christlichen Gedankengutes nimmt im Laufe der Zeit zu.

Dem Wörterverzeichnis liegt die Edition durch Zeumer (bzw d'Ors) zugrunde (Leges Visigothorum, hg. v. Zeumer, K. 1902; d'Ors, A., Estudios Visigoticos II, ElCodigo de Eurico, 1960; vgl. weiter Burns T., The Ostrogoths, 1980; Claude, D., Geschichte der Westgoten, 1970; Köbler, G., Verzeichnis der lateinisch-gotischen und der gotisch-lateinischen Entsprechungen der Bibelübersetzung, 1972; Köbler, G.; Gotisch-neuhochdeutsches und neuhochdeutsch-gotisches Wörterbuch, 1981, m. w. Nachw.; Köbler, G., Gotisches Wörterbuch, 1989; Nehlsen, H. Lex Visigothorum, HRG 2, 1966; Schulze, E., Gotisches Glossar, 1848; Wolfram, H., Geschichte der Goten, 1979, 2. A. 1980; Wolfram, H., Die Goten und ihre Geschichte, 2001). Dabei ergibt sich (für den Codex Euricianus eine Zahl von mehr als 500 Stichwörtern mit mehr als 3000 Belegen und) für die von Zeumer edierte Fassung der (jüngeren) Lex Visigothorum eine Zahl von 4000 Stichwörtern mit ca. 100000 Belegen. Damit erweisen sich die Leges Visigothorum im Verhältnis zu den Leges Langobardorum, Burgundionum, Saxonum, Thuringorum, Frisionum, Francorum, Alamannorum und Baiwariorum, als beleg- wie wortmäßig umfangreichste Rechtsaufzeichnung eines frühmittelalterlichen germanistischen Volkes. Um der modernen Technik Rechnung zu tragen, sind die Wörterverzeichnisse durch Frau Bonnie Yen, der ich für Ihren Einsatz sehr herzlich danke, gescannt und damit weltweit maschnell lesbar gemacht worden.
